PAYMENT ON LOAN IS ACT OF GOOD FAITH

French Prepare Additional $10,000,000 to Show Atti-

Congress Must Create New Commission Before Revision Could Be Made

BULLETIN
Rome—(P)—Italy's reply to the proposal of President Coolidge for a limitation of naval armaments conference was delivered to Ambassador Fletcher Monday morning. The nature of the answer was not announced, but it is believed certain it is in the negative.
The reply will be given out officially Monday evening.

Washington—France is preparing to pay the United States an additional ten million dollars this year as an act of good faith because of the delay in ratifying the Mellon-Berenger agreement. This does not require any approval from the United States as the additional sum simply will be credited to the debt incurred before and after the armistice. But the fact that the total sum paid this year will amount to $30,000,000 which is what the Mellon-Berenger agreement, provides for 1927 is significant.
It means that the French government wants to comply with the terms of the agreement during the early years at least. It is recognized that even if the French parliament rejects the agreement and asks for a revision of terms, particularly as to the terms scheduled for later years,
the payment this year of $30,000,000
will be more or less a commitment for the next five years.

POLICY IS KNOWN
The policy of the French government has been known here for some time but American officials, of course, could not advance that they would allow it in any way to influence their judgment with respect to the necessity of ratifying the Mellon-Berenger agreement. This is, pending in the American congress too, but the leaders there feel that action can be delayed until the French parliament ac-acts. The probability that an attempt to act on the agreement would mean protracted debate at the short session of congress with no practical effect
because the French had not ratified, influenced the leaders to defer consideration until the December session.
It seems certain that the agreement will be ratified by the American congress but there remains considerable doubt as to what the French parliament will do.

MUST PASS NEW LAW
Meanwhile, the world war debt
funding commission has gone out of existence which means that if any revision of the Mellon-Berenger agreement is to be attempted congress would have to pass a new law creating a commission to act for it. The settlement of the debts is not and never had an executive matter as this is entirely within the province of both houses of congress.

The French believe that the payment of the additional ten million dollars will have a favorable effect on American public opinion and will go far toward erasing the impression that the French criticism of the terms of the 62 year agreement is in reality
an attempt at repudiation.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO COLLIDES WITH TROLLEY

Rockford, Ill.—(P)—Allen C. Eaken,

Principle expresses itself in honesty, loyalty and unselfish-

Without it, there can be no growth.
Business integrity works thru

CLAIM LENROOT AND MCKINLEY WERE NOT BEATEN ON COURT

New York—(P)—Senator Borah's statement that defeat of senators who voted for the world court proved the people of the country were against United States adherence to the tribunal, is denied in a statement signed by a group of proponents of the court. They contend Senator McKinley of Illinois, and Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, were defeated by factors unrelated to the court.

Among signers of the statement,
sent in protest to Senator Borah,
are Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, Henry A. Stinson, William Church Osborn, Herbert S. Houston, Irving Fisher and George Haven Putnam.

SUN FORCES WIELD SWORD TO BEHEAD STRIKE FOMENTORS

Executioners Patrol Streets—Decapitate Roiters Without Trial

Shanghai—(P)—The sword, wielded swiftly to behead strike fomentors, was used in the native section of Shanghai Monday to combat the penetration of nationalist propaganda.
Continuing a death-dealing program started Sunday under orders of General Li Pao-Chang, defense commissioner of Shanghai, to check the spread of a general strike order Saturday, executioners with large swords
patrolled the streets, and summarily,
without semblance of a trial, decapitated on the spot men found making seditious speeches or distributing strikes literature. Reliable Chinese sources placed the number of beheadings at 20, of which 16 were carried out Monday, while nationalists declared that there had been 90.

STRIKE CELEBRATES VICTORY
The strike was called allegedly for economic reasons but in reality to celebrate the recent nationalist victory in Chekiang province and the subsequent capture of Hangchow, important center 113 miles southwest of here, from forces of Marshal Sun Chang-Fang.
The effect of the reign of terror,
though unmitigated Sunday, was pronounced Monday. Strike activities lessened, even in the foreign settlement beyond jurisdiction of the Chinese authorities, and natives started an exodus from the Chinese section to protection of the foreign area. A heavy rain also helped to discourage mass demonstrations. The situation on the battle front south of here remained about in status quo.

REACH AGREEMENT
Hankow—(P)—With the rest of China on edge over the growing seriousness of civil war and resulting international complications, Great Britain and the Cantonese government Monday entered an era of accord in one respect—an agreement disposing of the question of jurisdiction over the British concession here.

After overcoming numerous obstacles, British "Charge d' Affaires" Owen O'Malley and Eugene Chen, Cantonese foreign minister announced
Sunday they had come to terms regarding concession, from which the British were driven several weeks ago
when rioting coolies overran the district. Terms of the agreement were not divulged but during the course of the parley between O'Malley and Chen
it was indicated that the leading principle negotiations was the withdrawal of the concession from exclusive British control and placing it under a joint commission for administration similar to that of the former Russian and German concessions. It was indicated further that the understanding involved only the status of the Hankow concession, the position of other concessions in the Cantonese territory
being left to future parleys.

With the disclosure that the Hankow problem had been disposed of, it was announced that the discussions would be opened immediately with the Peking government with a view of arriving at an understanding relative to the British concessions in north China.
The discussions, scheduled to start Monday will be between British Minister Miles Lampson and V. K. Wollington Koo, minister of foreign affairs
for the Peking government.

LIBERTY BONDS HELPED TO TRAIN INVESTORS

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Liberty bonds were a training school for American investors because they stimulated popular interest in common stocks and bonds, Frederick E.
Voegelin, consulting engineer of New York, testified Monday in the government's suit to collect $30,000,000 additional taxes on the sale of minority stock in the Ford Motor Co.
Voegelin, in placing a value of $1-200 on Ford's stock as of March 1, 1913, said the market conditions at that time were less favorable than four or five years later because the issuance of Liberty bonds served to attract public interest to investment opportunities afforded in stocks and bonds.

16 LIVES ARE LOST IN EASTERN STORM

MANY DRIVEN FROM HOMES; HEAVY DAMAGE

Sleet, Snow and Wind Abate
After 48 Hours in Atlantic States

New York—(P)—Sixteen deaths and millions of dollars in property damage were caused by a snow, sleet and wind storm that had abated Monday after raging in the north and middle Atlantic coast states for 48 hours.

From Maine to Delaware bay, mountainous seas tossed ships about like match-boxes, shattered dwellings and swept away piers and board walks.
High tides carried water hundreds of feet in shore.

Snow fell to a depth of two feet in some places, while the temperature dropped to ten degrees below zero.
The storm took its heaviest death toll off Provincetown, Mass., where eight coast guardsmen lost their lives. Patrol Boat 335 was tossed ashore. The entire boat's crew was lost as two destroyers vainly rushed to rescue them.

OTHER FATALITIES
Other deaths attributed to the storm included four in Pittsburgh, two in Boston, one at South Amboy, N. J., and the second officer of a barge off
Ambrose lightship, outside New York harbor.

New Jersey beach resorts were hit hard. From Asbury Park to Cape May, high tides and great waves caused extensive damage to boats, board walks, shops, cottages and other structures. At Atlantic City, a 100-foot section of its famous board walk was lifted by a wave and deposited on the top of a building.

Many small craft and some larger ones were thrown on reefs, bars and beaches along the entire coast. Nineteen boats were driven ashore, and the five-masted schooner Nancy was driven high on the beach at Nantasket, Mass., while its crew was rescued by volunteers in dories.

SHIPPING SUSPENDED
Coastwise shipping practically was suspended. Ocean vessels were delayed 12 to 24 hours as a result of the storm while extended far out to sea.
The tide in New York harbor was the highest in 20 years. Damage estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars was done to piers.

The greatest havoc in the New York
district was caused at Staten Island
where the high tide carried water three-quarters of a mile inland and drove 1,500 from their homes. Damage there was estimated at a million dollars. About 200 families were rescued from their dwellings by police and others. Sleet and sush caused many traffic accidents in Manhattan.

Twenty blocks of Atlantic City were under water, which at places reached a depth of three feet. Two $12,000 aeroplanes were destroyed in a hangar.

SUPREME COURT GIVES O. K. TO RAIL VALUATION

Washington—(P)—Railroad valuation methods of the Interstate Commerce commission for rate making purposes were sustained in effect Monday by the supreme court.

GOVERNMENT WINS IN ANTI-TRUST LAW CASE

Washington, D. C.—(P)—The government won in the supreme court Monday in its prosecution of the Trenton and 22 other pottery companies under the Sherman Anti-trust law.

FIRM HEAD MISSING; MONEY IS GONE TOO

Madison—(P)—A search for the head of a firm was being made over the weekend, no trace has been found of E. B. Easton, whose fraternity financing organization is said to be short more than $50,000.

A warrant for Easton's arrest on an embezzlement charge was issued Saturday by District Attorney Glenn D.
Roberts after an audit of the Delta Gamma sorority accounts revealed a discrepancy. The warrant charged embezzlement of $100 but Mr. Roberts declared to day that the amount missing exceeded $50,000.

Easton, owner and manager of the Warner System, Inc., before he left, indicated that the money to cover the shortage might be secured in Minneapolis, and consequently police asked Minnesota authorities to aid in the search.

A note left by Easton for a friend,
however stated that it would be "useless to try to find him."

Old Friends Pay Tribute To Memory Of LaFollette

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Robert Marion LaFollette was described as man for the people in memorial services for the late Wisconsin senator Sunday in the house where a score of his friends, from half a dozen states
and all parties, eulogized his "practical idealism" and his readiness to fight in the people's interest.

Representative Henry Allen Cooper
of Wisconsin, presided, and addresses were made by Representatives Nelson, Brown, Schneider, Schafer, Beck, Peavey, Berger, Lampert, Voigt and Frear, all of Wisconsin, and Bath-bone, Illinois; LaGuardia, New York; Howard, Nebraska; Kvale, Minnesota;
Sincclair, North Dakota, and Huddles-ton, Alabama. The late Wisconsin senator's son, Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., attended the service.

New 'Washington' Letter Expresses Love For King

FAIL TO AGREE ON MINERS' NEW WAGE

Sub-committee Adjourns After Two Hour Session Monday at Miami

Miami—(P)—The sub-committee of the joint wage conference, after a two hour session here Monday suddenly adjourned without reaching an agreement on a new wage scale for the central competitive field. Rice Miller, chairman of the joint conference, announced that the sub-committee would report a failure to reach an agreement before the joint conference at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Representatives of the miners and operators went into session last Monday and appointed the sub-committee to confer on a new wage agreement for the bituminous field which includes Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and western Pennsylvania. The agreement reached at Jacksonville three years ago expires March 31.

Conferees announced that the subcommittee was hopelessly deadlocked
on the conflicting proposals presented by the miners and operators. Operators took the position that the failure of the sub-body to reach a common ground meant the adjournment of the joint wage conference Tuesday.

LEWIS IS SILENT
John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America declined to comment. He said no statement would be issued pending the report of the subcommittee to the main body.
Tuesday. The negotiations were deadlocked over the Lewis and Haskins proposals for a new wage contract to replace the Jacksonville agreement of 1921.

The Lewis proposal asked the conference to recognize the "inadequacy of wage reduction" to solve the problems confronting the industry and allowed a two-year contract. The joint conference would remain in existence during the life of the agreement to make adjustments in the industry and settle disputes. The Haskins proposal sought a continuous wage agreement on competitive basis
with the non Union fields of Kentucky and West Virginia. It would have set up a commission of miners, operators and mediators to fix wages, handle all problems and mediate differences.

DEATH OF JUROR'S SON HALTS DAUGHERTY TRIAL

Federal Court, New York—(P)— Death of a juror's son has halted the Daugherty-Miller trial. When court convened at 10:15 Monday morning, Judge John C. Knox announced that he had just learned that a son of Arthur Zinn, Juror No. 12, had died during the night of pneumonia. The funeral will be held Wednesday. It then adjourned court until Thursday.

OIMAN WINS SENIOR SKI CHAMPIONSHIP AT MEET

Minneapolis—(P)—Casper Oiman of Grand Beach, Mich., carried off the Northwestern Senior Ski championship here Sunday, besting a field of 21. Oiman made two beautiful jumps of 122 feet which enabled him to beat Halvor Bjornsgaard of Red Wing, Minn. Bjornsgaard had jumps of 114 and 118 feet, while Henry Fleming of Eau Claire, leaped 113 and 115 feet
for third place.

The class B senior title went to Herbert Elfsstrand of the Duluth Ski club.

URUGUAYAN AVIATOR ON WAY HOME FROM ITALY

Alicante, Spain—(P)—The Urugu-yan aviator, Major Tadeo Larrea, organized, left at one o'clock Monday afternoon for Malaga (Spain) in continuation of his flight from Marina Del-Pisa, Italy, to Montevideo, Uruguay.
He expected to reach Malaga at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

LAWYER CITED FOR CONTEMPT BY U. S. SENATE

Insult Attorney Refuses to Answer Questions Asked by Chairman Reed

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Calling before it the group of recalcitrant witnesses who previously had declined to answer questions as to primary campaign expenditures, last year the senate campaign funds investigating committee Monday obtained some of the information sought and decided to cite Daniel J. Schuyler, attorney for Samuel Insull Chicago utilities magnate for contempt.

Insull, after revealing that his expenditures in the campaign were $237,925, declined also to say why $43,000 he had for the general counsel campaign had been spent. Insull said he was not willing to release Schuyler from any seal of secrecy imposed on him.

"If I released him I might as well give the names myself," he said. Replying to Senator Guy Goff, former Milwaukeean, Insull said he did not contribute anything to the Wisconsin senatorial primary campaign. The $237,925 which the record now shows
he gave to the Illinois primary campaign was all he spent in that contest, he said.

After States Attorney Robert E.
Crowe of Chicago, "rather recalcitrant witness," and replied to queries to him, Schuyler took a stand and, although discussing that Insull, who contributed heavily to the senatorial campaign fund of Frank L. Smith, had also given $45,000 to the local Cook con-campaign, he refused to answer questions
as to whom the money was paid to.
Additional testimony added Monday showed that Insull spent a minimum of $237,925 in the Illinois Republican primary.

Insull, who at Chicago refused to tell of his contributions to county organizations, then took the stand and testified that the sums told about by Crowe and Schuyler as coming from him were correct.

The utilities operator denied that he sought to conceal anything from the committee. He said he had given $40,000 to the county campaign and the recipients were at liberty to publish the amounts, but that he would not give the names without violating a confidence.

CROWE TESTIFIES

Upon his appearance at Chicago
last August Crowe declined to state
this amount, taking the position that it was a county contest and was not proper subject for senate investigation.

Recalling Crowe, Senator Reed,
Democrat, Missouri, the chairman,
read the previous testimony and said:
"I now ask you to tell the committee the moneys you received from Mr.
Insull to be used for any purpose in the primary elections held in Illinois
on April 13, 1926."

"I received between $15,000 and $18-
000 for the campaign of Captain Savage. I got $5,000 from Mr. Schuyler, which he got from Samuel Insull."

Joseph P. Savage was a candidate for county judge. "Is that all the money Samuel Insull contributed in the primary?" Reed asked.

"My recollection is that he gave $10,000 to Roy E. West, $15,000 to George E. Brennan and some to Smith's campaign. That $5,000 is all he gave to me."

BLAME JOKERS FOR THREE EXPLOSIONS

Sheriff Abandons Efforts
When He Learns Piece of Flesh Is of Squirrel

Milwaukee—(P)—Sheriff Alvin Redford concluded Monday that "practical jokers" set off the three charges of explosive in three trees near Lake Nagawicka Saturday night, which shook the surrounding country-side and shattered window panes in two nearby farm houses.

The sheriff abandoned the investigation after receiving a report from Dr.
Edward Mieslovich, Milwaukee pathologist, that the piece of flesh found at the scene was part of a squirrel.
The animal is believed to have been caught in the blast. Inquiry Sunday failed to yield a clue to the perpetrators of the "joke," or the motive which prompted the act.

Three oak trees in which the charges, either dynamite or T. N. T., were placed, rest on a promontory 150 feet above the road leading from Lake Nagawicka to Milwaukee.

CAROL TAKES OWN TIME ABOUT GOING TO SEE HIS FATHER

Paris—(P)—Notwithstanding a report Monday morning that former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania, was on his way to Bucharest, it was learned Monday afternoon that he was still at his home in the Paris suburb of Neully. Apparently no preparations were being made for such a trip.

The report as published was that Carol would go to the Italian resort of Rapallo to see his young son, Prince Michael, the heir apparent, who was taken there recently by Carol's wife, Princess Helen, and that he would continue on to Bucharest to see his father, King Ferdinand. The visit it was said would be a purely personal affair without any political significance.

810 U. S. MARINES GUARDING RAILROAD IN NICARAGUA AREA

Latimer Orders Bluejackets to Keep Communication Open;
Protect Lives

BULLETIN
Washington, D. C.—(P)—The American government's determination to take a firmer hold on the situation in Nicaragua is becoming hourly more apparent. Without officially acknowledging any intention to interfere directly between the contending Nicaraguan factions, the state and navy departments have agreed upon a line of action which is expected generally to be interpreted as serious obstacles to the Saca's troops seeking to overthrow the American-recognized government of President Diaz. Not only have American marines and bluejack-ets taken over control of the vital national railway from Managua, the capital, to Corinto, but the American legation guard at Managua has been moved from barracks in town to Loma, the hill fort which dominates
the city. In previous Nicaraguan civil wars, possession of this fort has carried with it control of the capital.

Corinto, Nicaragua—(P)—Newly arrived American bluejackets and marines, numbering 810, were on duty Monday in Chinandega, Leon and other places along the national railroad.
Their duties, as outlined by Rear Admiral Julian L. Latimer, in command of the United States special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters,
are to keep the railroad open to points
where there are American and foreign lives and interests, and to prevent destruction of lines of communication by Liberal or Conservative forces. The admiral emphasized that the landing was merely in continuation of the policy that has been followed of protecting lives and investments of Americans and foreigners; it was not to be taken as a step toward armed intervention.

YOUTH DIRECTS HUNT FOR BODY OF UNCLE

Oshkosh, Neb.—(P)—Pacing his cell in the Garden-co Jail, Henry Boyer, who three days directed the search that Saturday night resulted in the finding of the grave of his uncle, Frank Boyer, Monday told authorities that although his brother, Tom, now supposed to be dead, had intended to kill Frank, he was surprised to see the "old man" slump down in the end of a boat after the explosion of a shotgun in the hands of his brother.

At the same time Minnie Boyer, widow of the slain man, who has lived with her nephew, Henry, since the death of her husband, and given birth to six of his children said: "I never lost any sleep over Frank's death; I wanted Henry for my own and I got
him."

AGED CATHOLIC PASTOR DIES AT EAU CLAIRE

Eau Claire—(P)—The Rev. A. B. C.
Dunn, for 38 years pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church here, died in a hospital Sunday night after a long illness. He was 61 years old. He was noted as a lecturer and orator. More than a decade ago he took a leading part in a local anti-union campaign at Duluth, Minn., and was credited with aiding that city to vote "dry." He was known as the "premier convert-maker" of his section. Three sisters survive.

HE JUMPS FROM EIFFEL TOWER TO SPITE WIFE

Paris—(P)—Because his wife did not want him to play billiards, Gaston Orphelin threw himself from the Eiffel tower, Monday, dying at her feet. For five hours previously notice tried to persuade him to descend from his perch on the second platform of the tower. He refused and demanded that his wife be sent for. When she arrived he jumped.

ONE MAN HURT IN EXPLOSION OF SULPHUR

Estimate Damage from Fire and Explosion Between $30,000 and $50,000

R E S U M E OPERATIONS

Whole Village is Upset When Acetylene Torch Ignites
Sulphur Dust

Fire caused by arks from an acetylene torch caused an explosion of sulphur dust in a bin and burner room of the Kimberly-Clark Paper Co. mill at Kimberly about 11:50 Sunday night.
John Lamers, Little Chute, a pipefitter suffered a broken leg and two other men were slightly injured. Lamers was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital. The loss is estimated at between $30,000 and $50,000.

One wall of the burner room was damaged and a number of windows were broken but the damage was not serious and the sulphite mill will be in operation either Monday night or Tuesday. The papermill, although slightly damaged, was able to resume operations a few hours after the accident. Debris caused by the blast made it rather difficult to quickly determine the damage to the plant. Most of the destruction is in the central portion of the plant. The maintenance building was the most seriously upset. Appleton and Kimberly fire departments were called and had the fire under control in about two hours. The damage was not severe, it was said.

Investigation showed that eight men were working in the sulphite burner room, but only two were in the building at the time of the accident. The others had left the building. Sparks from the acetylene torch ignited sulphur dust on the floor and, several other fires were extinguished before the explosion followed suit after. The acetylene torch was used to cut heavy steel on the combustion chamber head.

ADDRESSOGRAPH TILT AGAIN UP IN COURT

Writ Orders Dammann to Issue Warrant on Treasury, or Show Cause Why Not

Madison—(P)—Controversy over $50,000 addressograph was renewed in the state capitol Monday after a 10-week period of dormancy.
An alternative writ of mandamus,
issued by Judge A. C. Hoppmann, ordered Theodore Dammann, secretary of state, to issue a warrant on the state treasury for payment of the machine and supplies or to show cause before the judge why he should not do so.

Attorneys for the addressograph
company instituted the court action
in order to secure the full payment for the machine which was secured
while Governor Fred R. Zimmerman was secretary of state. The writ is returnable before Judge Hoppmann
Friday morning.

The wrangle over the machine began after a first payment had been made. John Meeks, former superintendent of public property, refused to authorize purchase of the machine, declaring that it was "inefficient and uneconomical."

When C. B. Ballard took office, however, the purchase of the machine was authorized and such order was forwarded to the secretary of state. Mr.
Dammann, it is said, has refused to audit bills and to forward the warrant for payment to the state treasury, Sol. Levitan.

The controversy between Governor Zimmerman and Mr. Meeks finally ended in the courts where Judge Hoppmann ordered the superintendent of public property to purchase the addressograph before leaving office.

ADVISE FARMERS TO DO BLASTING IN WET SEASONS

Low-grade Dynamite Should Be Used for Stump Blasting, Says U. W.

Madison — (AP) — Methods of saving on the cost of agricultural blasting are outlined in a report by the University of Wisconsin's agricultural extension service.

The report carries the advice to the farmer to blast when the soil is wet, in the spring or the late fall; use low-grade dynamite for stump blasting and high-grade dynamite for stone; tamp every hole well, and use explosive orders with neighbors.

"The use of explosives in land clearing," the report stated, "has increased in the past few years from a few hundred thousand pounds up to the present annual consumption of three million pounds a year. This explosive is now used very generally throughout the state. Clearing started a generation or more ago even in Southern counties is finished by the use of explosives."

"The methods and materials originally used in blasting stumps were largely adopted from among the miners who settled here upon cut-over tracts. But many practices were introduced in this way which while not necessarily dangerous when done by experienced men, were dangerous when done by beginners.

"Better distribution, better tamping, better loading, better tamping, and proper storage of explosive, caps and fuse reduces the cost of clearing cut-over land. The waste through improper tamping alone has caused much unnecessary loss in agricultural blasting."

"Low grade and cheaper dynamites and war explosives while they last do stump work as well or better than higher grades.

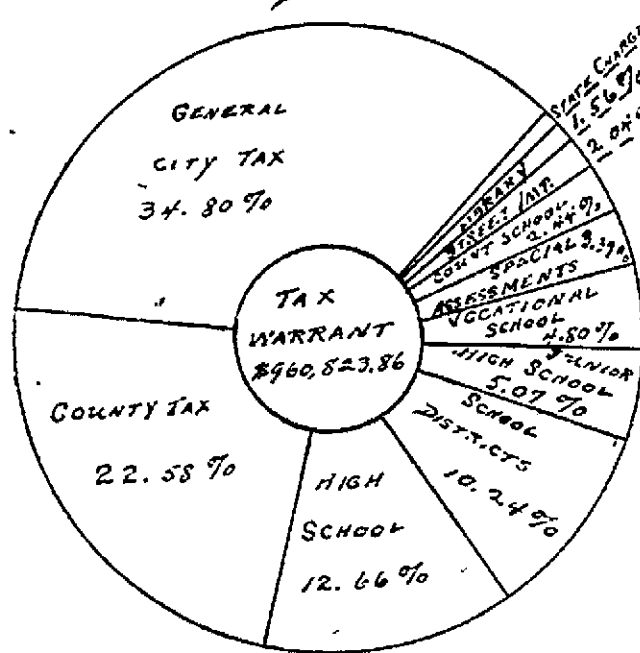

"For a long time it was thought that high grade, quick acting, expensive dynamites were necessary for stump blasting. During the past few years it has been proven that low grade, less expensive dynamites will do the work equally as well. Due to the slow heating action rather than a quick shattering action, even better work often can be done with the low grade dynamites. It was really not the grade of dynamite but the improper way in which it was used that kept up the belief that the quick grades were necessary. Failure to put the bore-holes in the right places and improper tamping had much to do with making high grade dynamites seem necessary."

REFERRING TO
the write up in the Post-Crescent, Wed. evening the 9th concerning the discharge of a revolver has caused people to say very untruthful things which has come back to me.

When these untruthful things are said I wish people would think if it may be true before they believe it and go on telling others. As please remember I have a boy which some day may have to face all these untruthful things said about me now.

Schools Get Most Out Of Taxes, Accountants Show

Of the $960,823.86 tax warrant for Appleton in 1926, 22.58 per cent, or $216,330.82 was paid to Outagamie county as the city's share of the county taxes, according to a chart prepared by Gates and Becher, accountants, who recently completed the annual audit of the city books. A total of $5.21 per cent or $339,642.29 was spent last year for all school purposes, city and county, according to the report.

The largest single item in the distribution was $339,642.29, or 35.3 per cent, which was paid into the city general fund.

The amount paid for all school purposes exceeds the amount paid into the general fund but the separate items for various school purposes were as follows: High schools, $121,485, or 12.66 per cent; school districts, $99,237.59, or 10.34 per cent; junior high schools, $48,718.35, or 5.07 per cent; vocational school, $46,110.75, or 4.8 per cent.

The city's share of state charges on the county was .44 per cent or $4,207.39. Special assessments amounted to $32,426.95. Street improvements took 2.01 per cent of the tax warrant or $19,639.84, and the library received $15,000 or 1.56 per cent.

ENGLISH SINGERS HAVE INFORMAL AIR

Artists Will Appear at Lawrence Memorial Chapel on Feb. 24

An informal air is brought to the concert stage by the English Singers of London who will sing at Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday evening, Feb. 24, under the auspices of the Community Artist series. The sextet of three women and three men have adopted the unfamiliar habit of singing seated at ease around a table, copying the manner of those for whom the madrigals were written 350 years ago.

In their programs the singers include madrigals, ballets, canzonets, and others of the Elizabethan period, and Italian and Spanish street cries, folk songs, modern English and French part songs, and certain other works with pianoforte accompaniment. They are sung entirely in English. It is in polyphonic music that their greatest successes have been attained.

Audiences after hearing this group have often asked, "Why don't we have this sort of thing oftener?" The answer given by musicians has been because such singing requires hard work, intellect, good temper and the power of forgetting self, thinking only of the music.

Too, it has been only recently that this rich treasure of song has been available. Dr. Edmund H. Fellowes, canon of Windsor castle in England and a world authority on Tudor music, now has completed his researches adding 800 of these beautiful songs to the literature.

P. D. Perkins of the New York Herald Tribune said of them, "A fascinat-

VISITING PERIOD IS OBSERVED BY SCHOOL

Visiting day was observed Friday, Feb. 11, at Cherry Hill school, route 3, Seymour. Classes were conducted until recess, and the school society held a meeting after the play period was over. A program of recitations and talks on Lincoln, Washington and the Flag, was presented, followed by a debate by the pupils of the Fifth and Sixth grades on Resolved: That it is better to live in the country than in the city. The affirmative team won. Lunch was served to the children and parents. Work of the pupils in writing, language, and drawing was on exhibition. Miss Selma Swails is the teacher.

EXTENSION CLASS IS OPENED AT MARINETTE

E. M. Gorow, representative of the district office of the University of Wisconsin Extension division here, instituted a foreman's training class at Marinette Thursday. The class will be in charge of F. G. Wheeler of the Kimberly-Clark Co. Mr. Wheeler will have charge of the first meeting Friday evening.

demonstration of the fact that there is much in English vocal music and also in how to sing it, not yet known here. . . . an ensemble of careful perfection . . . they offered a combined voice of remarkable beauty of tone, of notable and richly varied color."

The singers will come here as a part of the Community Artist series sponsored by Lawrence conservatory of music.

KAUKAUNA YOUTH ENROLLS IN CAMP

Sylvester Lehrer Is First to Sign for 1927 Citizens Military Training

Sylvester Lehrer, Kaukauna, is the first Outagamie-co boy to enroll for the 1927 Citizens Military Training Camp, according to Lieut. F. O. Keicher, who is in charge of the registration and camp work for the county. Enrollments are being started much earlier this year. All information concerning the enrollment as well as application blanks can be secured from Mr. Keicher at Boy Scout headquarters, second floor, Insurance-bldg. Outagamie-co boys probably will go to Fort Sheridan as notice received by Mr. Keicher said boys will be assigned to the same camps as last year unless notice of change is received in the near future.

Establishment of the CMTC several years ago marked the beginning of the most popular short-time military training ever instituted in the United States. Attendance at these camps has grown rapidly and last summer saw the camps filled to capacity and many names on the waiting list. This year enrollments are to start early in order that all names may be in-long before time. Lieut. Keicher will be able to give all available information regarding the camps.

The Coptic language descended from the ancient Egyptian and was used in Egypt until the last two centuries. It now has been superseded by Arabic.

ASSESSOR FIXES LIST OF AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

A list of automobiles and their owners is being prepared by George Poolter, assessor, preparatory to assessing them for the 1927 tax roll. There were approximately 3,400 cars in the city in 1926, according to the assessor, and the number is not expected to be a great deal larger this year. The work has been in progress for about six weeks and will be about two or three weeks more.

APPLETON GIRL NAMED FRENCH CLUB PRESIDENT

Miss Amy Howser of Appleton, a junior at Lawrence college, was elected president of the French club at a meeting this week. Other officers chosen were Harold Cripe, of Wausau, vice president; Miss Winifred Sullivan of Rhineland, secretary; Miss Lola Payne of Wisconsin Rapids, treasurer.

Farmer Of Freedom, Wis. Got Complete Relief In Three Weeks

Is now ready to recommend Drecto to anyone suffering from poor appetite, indigestion, gas in the stomach or heartburn.

No higher praise can be given any medicine than for a person to be so pleased with it themselves that they tell their friends about it. One recommendation like that is worth more than all the proprietors of the medicine could say about it. That is the secret of the enormous sales of Drecto which is now being introduced by the Drecto Expert at Schilintz Bros. Drug Company. Everywhere it is sold people tell their friends of its marvelous powers to restore the vital organs to healthy action.

Read how it helped Mr. Jake Make, the popular Freedom, Wisc. farmer. He says: "Although I am still a young man I have suffered considerably during the past several years with my stomach. No matter how little I ate, and it was mighty little at that, for I had scarcely any appetite. I was sure to suffer with indigestion afterward. My stomach would bloat up with gas and at times it felt like my stomach was filled with hot coals. Sour acids used to rise in my mouth after every meal. "I read so much of Drecto I finally decided to try it and I am now convinced that it is the best medicine anyone in my condition could take. I now have a fine appetite and even though I eat twice as much as I used to I'm now no longer troubled with my stomach in any way. The gas and heartburn have been relieved and I'm never bothered with the acid risings anymore."

Mr. H. W. C. Marr Baker, the well-known expert from the Drecto Laboratories now at Schilintz Bros. o/s. Downtown Drug Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Drecto for best results. Go to see him. adv.

- 1 SPEED—The "1900" Whirlpool Washer will wash eight pounds of clothes in five minutes. The average family laundry can be done in one hour in the Whirlpool.
- 2 TEMPERED COPPER TUB—18-ounce tempered copper is employed exclusively in the Whirlpool tub. Tempered copper costs more but it prevents buckling, denting or leaking. Copper retains heat longer, too.
- 3 TIMKEN AND BARRETT BEARINGS—Bearings like in an automobile prevent excessive wear and give the Whirlpool long life, extra speed and smooth operation.
- 4 CASE-HARDENED PARTS—Precise machining to a thousandth fraction of an inch, case-hardened gears and case-hardened wearing parts add also to the Whirlpool efficiency and endurance.
- 5 DIRECT DRIVE—No belts to slip or break; no loss of power. Note the illustration below showing rack, worm, and exclusive circulator that does the washing.
- 6 SINGLE CONTROL—One control operates everything. Nothing to fuss with. No adjustments to make regardless of load. A child can learn to operate the Whirlpool.
- 7 LEAKPROOF STUFFING BOX—The packing of the stuffing box is so constructed that leaking is impossible. No Whirlpool has been known to leak.
- 8 INFREQUENT LUBRICATION—Lubrication in the Whirlpool is almost automatic. It requires practically no attention except at rare intervals.
- 9 CONVENIENCE—Small in size yet holds 21 gallons of water. May easily be moved about and will go through a 24-inch doorway. Clothes may be added or removed while the washer is in action, and it will wash until the last drop of water is drained.
- 10 DUCCO FINISH—Time will not mar the beauty of the Whirlpool because of its protective cost of Ducco and its highly lustrous copper.

STATE WON'T HOLD BETTER CITY MEET AGAIN UNTIL 1930

Directors and Committee Chairman of Social Conference Meet

There will not be another Better Cities contest in Wisconsin until 1930, it was decided at a meeting of the board of directors and committee chairman of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, sponsor of the statewide competition, at the City Club, Milwaukee, last week Friday evening. Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce and a director of the conference, attended the session. Thirty persons were present. The conference had decided a contest in 1927 at a previous meeting but this action was rescinded when several city representatives said their cities could not enter a contest so soon after the 1926 competition as they had just received reports of the results and criticisms a short time ago and were now working on them. One city reported that it had made more advancement in the last year than in the previous 10 years because of the criticism of the contest judges. A civic center and county and city building will be established by a committee composed of representatives of the county board and city council. Because of the report the council appropriated more money for city work and plans are underway for a playground which the city would not have received had not the criticism been made.

It was decided to change the name of the contest from the Better Cities Contest to the Measurement Standard of Community Activities for City Survey contest. Aubrey Villiger, executive secretary of the conference, reported on his work since the last meeting, showing that he had made several surveys for individual cities expense relative to the Better Cities Contest. The cities were inspired by the contest to request extra surveys to find out their possibilities and needs. Mr. Williams said.

Miss Marie Kohler of Sheboygan, the new president, reported on the last meeting of the conference and several other reports were made. These included a financial statement which showed that a large sum of money had been turned into the conference treasury. Application was one of the largest contributors. The library committee reported that in the future contest libraries would not be graded on the amount of money spent on them but on the amount they were used.

Prof. Kolb of the University of Wisconsin School of Agriculture, an expert who has written several books on rural conditions, was appointed chairman of a committee on rural conditions. The committee will study rural conditions and make a schedule from a standard of Wisconsin counties for a county betterment contest after 1930.

An advisory council of nine members will be appointed to cooperate with the state industrial commission in its work, it was decided. The committee will consist of three managers of concerns, three laboring men and three persons appointed from the public. One of each group is to be a woman.

SPECIAL STUDENT HELP IS STUDIED BY FACULTY

What Can We Do to Help the Special Pupil was the topic discussed at a meeting of the faculty of Appleton high school. The dull, over-aged, and the bright, mentally alert pupil was included in the program which was presented by a committee consisting of Miss May Webster, Miss Elsie Mueller, Miss Minnie Smith, Miss Ruth Mielke, Miss Edith Brunschweller, and Miss Louise Bucholz.

Phases of the topic discussed by the committee were: What Some of Our Forward Looking Schools Are Doing by Miss Webster, What Our Leading Educators Write on This Question by Miss Mueller, The Gifted Pupil and Provisions Made for them in Our Own and other Schools by Miss Smith, Some Hindrances and Difficulties for Pupils by Miss Brunschweller, Some Ways in Which We Can Help the Dull and Over-aged Pupils by Miss Bucholz.

JUSTICES CANNOT CONDUCT INQUESTS

Only Exception Is When District Attorney Orders Them to Be Held

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin justices of the peace have no right to hold inquests unless ordered to do so by the district attorney, says one of the four opinions handed down by Attorney General John W. Reynolds Saturday. The opinion was in answer to a request from district attorney James R. Hille, of Superior, who asked if the county had to go to the expense of holding inquests when only a justice of the peace deemed them necessary.

County board chairmen need not countersign orders for the disbursement of county funds, under the present statutes, the attorney general held. This was in answer to a query from District Attorney W. R. Kirk, of Hudson.

Another opinion held that the supervisor of a town is not eligible to be inspector of an election in which he is a candidate for re-election. It was issued to District Attorney M. H. Roden, of Port Washington. No explanation was given the case upon which the district attorney based his request for an opinion.

Edward Meyer, district attorney of Manitowish, asking if the insane hospital farm maintained by the county, was compelled under the law to pasteurize the buttermilk from its dairy farm, was told by the state attorney that this was not necessary. The attorney general held that "a county which owns and maintains its own farm to raise its own farm produce and a herd of cows to make its own milk, butter and cheese is not required to have buttermilk so produced pasteurized in order to sell same or any part thereof for consumption." The attorney general also pointed out that the herds on the farm were, to a great extent, tested and found to be free from disease.

Prof. Kolb of the University of Wisconsin School of Agriculture, an expert who has written several books on rural conditions, was appointed chairman of a committee on rural conditions. The committee will study rural conditions and make a schedule from a standard of Wisconsin counties for a county betterment contest after 1930.

POOR COST CITY $12,645 IN '27, SCHUELER SHOWS

$6,140 Was Spent for Families Outside City Home
Last Year

A total of $12,645.70 was spent in Appleton for poor aid last year, according to the annual report of E. G. Schueler, poor commissioner. Of this sum, $6,140.69 was for families outside the city home, $5,384.44 was used for operating the home, and $2,224.57 was paid the poor commissioner.

The largest single item was wood and coal, $2,864.53 being spent for that purpose. Salary of the poor commissioner, the poor farm keeper and wa-iron formed the next largest item, $2,266.67, and purchase of groceries amounted to $1,898.98.

The number of men, women and children to whom aid was extended last year was 261. Of this number, 39 were men, 41 were women, and 181 were children. The city treated 80 separate cases, 41 were recurrent, 23 were new cases, and 14 were non-resident cases.

Fifty-nine persons were of American nationality, seven German, four Belgians, three Irish, two each English, Polish and Swedish, and one Hollander. Of the 80 cases, 43 were married, seven single, 14 widows, three widowers and 13 abandoned.

The causes for dependency were as follows: Abandoned women, 12; aged infirm widows, 6; aged infirm couples, 4; aged infirm, singles, 7; cripples, 2; head of the family out of work, 26; head of the family ill, 10; widows with families, 9; miscellaneous, 4.

The daily average number of inmates at the city home was 18. The average cost for each inmate was $310.25 for the year. The inventory of the home shows that this city property's estimated value is $29,502.

BASKETBALL TEAM
PICKED FOR TOURNEY

Expected to Meet Berlin in First Game of Oshkosh Classic

Neenah—The high school basketball team of Neenah has been officially elected as one of the eight teams to play in the district tournament March 10, 11 and 12 in Oshkosh Normal school gymnasium. This was decided Saturday at the annual conference of district basketball tournament managers held in Madison. Other teams in the Oshkosh tournament will be Berlin, Brandon, Lomira, Mayville, Ripon, Waupun or North Fond du Lac. If the regular season is carried out Neenah will play the Berlin team on the first night.

KEEFE SWINGS AXE ON

"IMMORAL" LITERATURE

Neenah—District Attorney Frank Keefe, announced Saturday, his intentions of starting an action against newstands circulating salacious magazines containing suggestive jokes, stories and immoral pictures. The announcement he states, follows receipt of numerous complaints from various sections of the county. Many newstands in Oshkosh, Neenah and Menasha, as well as other places in the county where periodicals are sold, have been "holed-up" by Keefe. He declares, "It is my intention to prosecute anyone who is trafficking in these magazines under the state law forbidding the circulation of immoral literature. Immediate steps will be taken to see that this practice is stopped."

Newsdealers in Neenah have already discarded these so-called art magazines from their shelves.

COUNCIL INSPECTS 2 BUILDINGS FOR CITY TOOL HOUSE

Aldermen Renew Activity to Secure Structure to House
Department Equipment

Inspection of buildings proposed for a city tool house was conducted by the common council Monday afternoon. Mayor A. C. Rule called the inspection following action of the council last Wednesday night when the aldermen decided that some definite action must be taken. The need for a tool house is apparent, the aldermen thought, and suggestions were made as to how the city might acquire such a building.

The first plan is to build a new tool house on the city property near the city barns on S. Walnut-st. Such a building would cost approximately $45,000. The Reliance truck building could be purchased for $45,000 and the Langstadt-Meyer building for $65,000, it is believed. The aldermen are divided as to which is the better plan. Various plans for raising the necessary funds also were discussed.

Means of getting an expression from the public as to whether it would favor placing a special optional assessment on the tax roll next year also were studied. The money raised by this assessment would be used in bringing the M. T. Shaw, Inc., Racine shoe manufacturers, to Appleton. The Racine firm is asking $25,000 moving expenses and a new factory which would cost approximately $50,000. At a public mass meeting at the city hall Thursday evening a motion was passed asking the aldermen to try to get an expression from the voters.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS SCHEDULED IN MARCH

Examinations for junior observer in meteorology to fill vacancies in the weather bureau throughout the United States will be held again in March, an announcement from the commission states. An examination for the position was held recently in Appleton and other cities throughout the country, but applications were not secured in the number desired.

Applications must be on file at Washington, D. C., not later than March 12. The date for assembling of competitors will be stated on the applicant's admission cards, and will be about ten days after the close of receipt of applications.

Applications for positions of junior pharmacists will be received by the commission until Feb. 12, it has been announced. These positions would be with the United States Public Health service throughout the country. The entrance salary is $2,500 a year. Higher salaried positions are filled through promotion.

Duties of the junior pharmacist include the purchasing, testing, assaying, selecting, and compounding of drugs and medicinal agents to be used at the hospitals and relief stations of the service. For either position may be secured from the commission at Washington or at the local postoffice.

Congressional "Co-eds" Get Cloakroom At Last

BY ALLENE SUMNER
Washington—Somebody had to die before the girls in Congress got a cloakroom. But somebody did die and now the congressional "co-eds" have a place to hang their hats, powder their noses and take a snooze between word battles on the floor.

Ever since "Aunt Alice" Robertson from Oklahoma came to Washington and got sleepy between debates, the agitation for a woman's cloakroom has been one of the things in the congressional ether.

But where, oh where, would it be? They searched high and they searched low, and it was not until a congressional committee chairman died and thus yielded to vacancy his private office in the House wing of the capitol that something could be done about it.

OUR CHANGING TIMES
The cloakrooms for senators and congressmen long have been historic and allegedly important sections of the capitol. But they were exclusively for male use. The cloakroom served as a retiring room where a tired representative might go for a few minutes' relaxation on a couch, or perhaps gain temporary relief from arduous speechmaking by cracking or listening to a joke or two.

Necessity for similar quarters for women began to become apparent when Congress found more than one woman in its midst. There was no place for them to retire and rest for brief periods unless they trotted way to their offices or went home. And, of course, there will be four women in the next Congress when Mrs. Langley of Kentucky joins Mrs. Kahn of California, Mrs. Rogers of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Norton of New Jersey.

Aunt Alice Robertson, who used to hold the distinction of being the only congresswoman, was really responsible for the arrangement of the cloakroom for her successors. She waited until her term was over and then she went to see William Tyler Page, now clerk of the House.

"Often I've felt on the floor that I'd give anything if I could go and lie down for five minutes," she told him. "Now you've got three women here and you ought to do something for them."

Page scratched his head and went to Longworth. Longworth scratched his head, too. Where, oh where, could a congresswoman's cloakroom be established? There simply wasn't room anywhere—not without disturbing the men.

THE SOLUTION
Then the committee chairman died. His office became available.

Speaker Longworth decided that this was the room for the women and Page got some cleaners and painters busy and arranged the dandy little place where the three congresswomen now reign supreme.

It's theirs alone. Only the women's and a woman attendant especially provided for them have its keys. Wives and daughters of congressmen may enter, but only by invitation. A desk, some colonial furniture, and places to hang coats and hats comprise the furniture.

"If we get many more women here we may have to enlarge it," Page admits. "But I guess it will do for a while."

Home Economics Representative Will Conduct Demonstrations.

A series of four meetings with women's organizations has been scheduled in Outagamie-co. this week by Miss Gladys Stillman of the Home Economics department of the University of Wisconsin Extension division, according to Robert A. Amundson, county agent.

Cooking and food demonstrations will be presented by Miss Stillman. The meetings will serve as a continuation of the work started here about a year ago by the extension division, according to Mr. Amundson.

The meetings will be held next Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 23 and 24, two gatherings being planned each day.

On Wednesday morning she will meet with Appleton women at the Appleton Woman's club playhouse. The Hotel Falck, Seymour, will be the scene of the second gathering in the afternoon under auspices of Mrs. Ralph Daniels, Mrs. Henry Schoetter, route 1, will have charge of the Appleton meeting.

Mrs. J. Sawall will have charge of the meeting at Hortonville Thursday morning, Feb. 24, while the afternoon meeting will be adjourned to Shiocton, under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Towne.

Love Letters Of The Great

AS COMPILED BY DIANA RICE

ROBERT BROWNING 1812-1880

The love of the poet Browning for Elizabeth Barrett, one of the great st. loves o' history, may be fully traced in their letters which fill two volumes, many of them written before they married. Mrs. Browning's father objected violently to any of his children marrying and the courtship of these two lovers was a secret one. Despite of ever overcoming this prejudice they were eventually married without parental consent and went to Florence to live. Though an invalid most of her life, Mrs. Browning had an active restless mind which produced many beautiful and appealing poems. They have less obscurity than her husband's poem, which while among the greatest ever written are of less interest to the average reader than to the student of literature.

God bless you, and so your own.

R. B. Elizabeth Barrett Browning to Barrett Browning

Sunday Eve.

Postmarked, March 20, 1846

Dearest I have been trying your plan of thinking of you instead of writing. To-day, and the end is that I am drawn to the last of the day and have scarcely room in it to write what I would. . . . I do not think of it sometimes as you see. Which proves that I love you better than myself by the whole width of the Heavens; the sevenfold Heavens. . . . Believe it of me dear, dearest, that I who am as clear-sighted as other women--and not more humble was quite resolutely blind when you came. . . . I could not understand the possibility of that. It was too much--too surprising. And so it will seem to the end. The astonishment, I mean, will not cease to be.

It is my own especial fairy-tale from the spells of which you may now be unharmed. How one writes and writes over and over the same thing: But day by day the same sun rises--over and over, and nobody is tired.

May God bless you, dearest of all, and justify what has been by what shall be--and let me be free of spoiling any sun of yours. Shall you ever tell me in your thoughts, I wonder, to get out of your sun? No. No. Love keeps love too safe. And I have faith, you see as a grain of mustard seed.

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST--California grapes, cereal, thin cream, creamed dried beef on toast, crisp whole wheat toast, milk coffee.

LUNCHEON--Sausage rolls, canned sweet potatoes, creamed spinach stuffed apple salad, cheese cups, milk tea.

DINNER--Baked bluefish with lemon butter, lettuce potatoes, buttered Brussels sprouts. French endive with French dressing frozen pears, coconut macaroons, rye rolls, milk coffee.

TROZEN fruits are simple, delicious desserts that will particularly appeal to the woman who uses an electric refrigerator. The fruit is usually frozen without sugar since it is to be served whole and must not be frozen too hard. The pears are garlicked with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla. The cream is thoroughly chilled but not frozen.

With the fish season upon us, a recipe for lemon butter seems especially appropriate. Boiled or baked fish are vastly improved if served with this accompaniment.

LEMON BUTTER I
One-fourth cup butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons hot water, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper.

Work flour into butter, add lemon juice and hot water and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and smooth. Do not let boil. Stir in salt and pepper and serve.

One-fourth cup butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon sugar.

LEMON BUTTER II
Cream butter and slowly beat in lemon juice and sugar. Chill and serve.

WHAT ABOUT ADULT ETHICS?

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I SAT through 37 varieties of "Blues," winding up with a bawling contest that was rightly named the "Jackass Blues."

This isn't going to be a preaching editorial. I'm going to say it was rotten and that good music has killed itself goodbye and all that. No, I found my feet tapping the floor with all the others. It was a negro orchestra and it was very good.

I don't blame the children for taking out their chewing gum and whistling for encores--except that I found me wad sticking to my sleeve when I got home.

Next, a gentleman came out and politely stretched himself for us to look at. I was charmed. He grew visibly before our amazed eyes quite seven inches taller and shrank again. Then he grew one long arm and another long arm, and did all sorts of things, with two wives along with the limber and elastic gentlemen and the decorous order. How Mr. Barnum came to miss him I don't know.

Then came the movie. "It was fine! A bedroom farce--and that always lends itself readily to the screen. A gentleman wasn't quite sure which of his two wives (one divorced) he preferred, and spent his time being

It was screamingly funny. The children forgot to chew their gum--I guess they swallowed it--and bobbed about and laughed and fussed and chatted. I watched three of them near me. They should have been in bed long hours before. There were many other children there, too, for that's one place parents seem to allow their children, and young children, to go alone at night. I suppose every night of life there are hundreds of thousands of children in neighborhood movie.

I watched them as they trudged down the aisle to the door. They seemed to have forgotten the show. But they hadn't. Children never forget anything. Did they class a man with two wives along with the limber and elastic gentlemen and the lyric of the depressed donkey?

Or did they think it was all perfectly natural for a gentleman to have all the wives he chose?

If the "youngest" generation has ethics of its own when it grows up who are we that we should cover our faces?

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE Tynmites were much surprised when all of them full realized that they had landed safely on a funny cloud of smoke. They jumped up to their feet, at once. Said Clewney, "I feel like a dunce. I simply cannot stand up, and I think it's all a joke."

Then Scouty loudly laughed. "Gee, this cloud's as soft as it can be. It's really like we're walking on a monstrous rubber band. We bounce around and round and then, we sit right down and bounce again. I'm getting tired of doing this. I wish that I could stand."

The other Tynmites tried their luck. It seemed their little feet got stuck. They couldn't get their balance and 'twas funny, after 'while. Then Copsy shouted, "Just watch me. To stand is easy as can be." But when he tried to do it, he made all the others smile.

Their cloud went drifting through the air. They knew it, but they didn't care. As long as they were having fun, it suited them just great. Once more they all tried standing still, but every time they'd take a spill. And then wee Scouty heard a laugh that made him hesitate.

"Say, what was that?" he said, real loud. "That laughter was not from our crowd." The other Tynmites heard it, too, and started looking round. "Ah," said Clewney, "Look ahead." And when they did just as he said, a very funny looking man, with smiling face was found.

"Well, who are you?" wee Copsy said. The funny man just shook his head, and answered, "I'm the Smoke Man, and you're standing on my cloud. However, don't be frightened here. You really have no cause for fear, and if you stay and visit, it will make me feel real proud."

(The Tynmites play in smoke rings in the next story.)

"THE CRAWFORD" HAS ONE-STORY EXTENSION PARTICULARLY SUITABLE TO DOCTOR'S NEEDS

PARTICULARLY suited to a physician's needs is this inviting brick home, "The Crawford." See the admirable arrangement for a doctor of the one-story extension to the left, a separate entrance and equally large and light reception room and office!

A mere glance at the plan reveals the pleasant arrangement of the rest of the lower floor as well as the three upstairs bedrooms. Large baths and ample closets are other attractions.

Designers of this house boast that while it is one of their best in layout and looks, it may be built for about $28,000.

The Standard Homes Corporation, Colorado Building, Washington, D. C., will supply detailed information about this house.

Household Hints

PORK CRISPS

Crisp shavings of fat pork, well browned, may be mixed with pancake batter, to give a delicious flavor.

EGG CUPS

The egg cups supplied in an electric table stove may be used as containers for muffin or cup cake batter. When the lid is fastened on, the stove will bake them very well.

REMOVE PAPER

Always remove paper from meal at once and set on a plate in the ice box. Paper spoils flavor and absorbs juices.

MEND WITH MACHINE

Many rents and tears in garments may be mended better with a sewing machine, than by hand.

KITCHEN SCALE

The scale is an absolute necessity in the thrifty housewife's kitchen.

TOP SIRLOIN

Top sirloin steak is a cut of meat less expensive than porterhouse but not inferior in flavor or tenderness.

TO MATCH HAT

If you are wearing a red, henna or rose hat, your lipstick must match it in tone.

BRIGHT NASTURTIUMS

Doutonnieres for the new spring suits and street frocks are made of six or seven rather large, brightly colored nasturtiums.

Women's Danger

Of offending under the oldest hygienic handicap now ended. New way provides true protection--discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND

Registered Nurse

WITH the old-time "sanitary pad" women realize their constant danger of offense, plus the embarrassment of disposal. And thus spend unhappy days.

"KOTEX," a new and remarkable way, is now used by 8 in 10 better-class women.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheers frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus stops all danger of offending.

Discards as easily as tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Be sure you get the genuine, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

MUSIC

Choir Sings Oratorio To Big Audience

A dramatic performance of the oratorio "Esther" was given by the choir of First Congregational church Sunday evening. The difficult music of the solos and choruses were sung with ability and showed much training. About 400 persons heard the cantata which was directed by Carl J. Waterman, dean of Lawrence conservatory of music.

The cantata was written only recently, and the local performance was one of the early presentations of the work. The music of the modern idiom was peculiarly appropriate to the time and setting of the incident of the Biblical book of "Esther."

Queen Vashti was bidden to come before her king, Artaxerxes, unveiled, and the story of the book goes. She refuses and is set aside by the king who chooses from the beautiful maidens around him. Esther, who is made his queen. Haman who is in great favor with the king and serves as his prime minister asks the king for a favor. The request is that all the Jews be destroyed. It is granted but the king does not know that Mordecai, a Jew who saved the king's life is a Jew. Haman dislikes Mordecai and the request was made to destroy the enemy. Esther too is a Jew and she is persuaded to take her life in her hands and go to the king asking him to save her people. He grants her plea and hangs Haman instead.

Soloists in the oratorio were J. Raymond Walsh as Artaxerxes, Carl J. Waterman as Artabanus, Franklin La Fèvre as Artabanus, Norman Knutson as Mordecai and Miss Eleanor McKibbin as Esther.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS U. C. T.
MASKED PARTY

About 75 couples attended the masquerade dancing party given by the Commercial Travelers Saturday night at Elk club. The party was for members, their wives and friends. Guests were present from Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and Oshkosh.

Features of the party were a lemon dance and circular two steps. Prizes for costumes were awarded to Mrs. August Brandt who wore a Russian costume, for the best dressed lady; and to Mrs. E. E. Dunn, the funniest costume, who was garbed as an Italian organ grinder. E. P. Grignon, dressed as a retired country gentleman, won the men's best costume prize and E. M. Laitala, dressed as a black cat, won the men's funniest costume prize. A special prize was awarded to a group of eight couples from Oshkosh who represented the circus band. Music for dancing was furnished by the Electric city orchestra.

Plans are being made for the next meeting of the lodge on March 19 at Menasha. Dinner will be served at Hotel Menasha to members and their wives after which a dancing party will be held at Elk hall. Cards will be played by members who do not wish to dance. The party was given as a farewell to retired officers.

CARD PARTIES

Fourteen tables were in play at the open card party given by the Christian Mothers society of Sacred Heart church Sunday night at Sacred Heart school hall. Prizes were won by Lyle Whynotski, Mr. Jeffery, Miss Joseph Recker at schafkopf; Lawrence Somers and Louis Weintrauer at skat; and by Mrs. J. Dlob and Mrs. George Brautigan at plumpack. Members of the society will be entertained at a social and cards at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The second of the series of open card parties to be given by Pythian Sisters will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at Castle hall. Bridge, schafkopf and dice will be played. Mrs. E. E. Cahill is chairman of the committee in charge.

LODGE NEWS

Officers and members of the degree staff of Pythian Sisters are to meet at 7 o'clock Monday night at Castle hall for practice. The regular business meeting of the organization will be held at 8 o'clock. Regular business and initiation is scheduled.

A Washington program will be given following the regular business meeting of Appleton court of Catholic Order of Foresters Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Catholic home. A special program is being arranged by L. O. Schweitzer, speaker.

Appleton chapter No. 47, Royal Arch Masons will hold a regular meeting at 7:30 Tuesday evening at Masonic temple. Mark Master degree will be conferred.

Royal Neighbor lodge of Little Chute will hold its meeting at 7:30 Wednesday evening instead of the regular time Thursday night at Legion hall. It was announced. A class of about 25 candidates will be initiated at the meeting. Neighboring teams will put on the degree. Mrs. Mayne Ifoeb, oracle, has urged all members to attend the meeting which will start promptly at 7:30.

A card party for members and their wives will be given by the Kaukauna Loyal Order of Moose Monday night. Schafkopf and five hundred will be played.

J. T. Reeve circle, ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows hall. Regular business will be discussed and a class of candidates will be initiated.

ELECT OFFICERS
OF Y. W. C. A. AT ANNUAL DINNER

The annual colonial banquet of the Y. W. C. A. of Lawrence college will be held at the First Methodist church Tuesday evening. Officers for the coming year will be elected at the meeting following the dinner. Reservations have been made for 300 girls. The four "best loved" senior girls will be guests of honor at the banquet and will be dressed as colonial dames and men. These honored girls were chosen by a vote of all girls in the school and their names will not be announced until the time of the party.

Miss Mary Reeve of Appleton, president of the association, will be toastmistress of the occasion. The banquet is held each year on Washington's birthday anniversary when George and Martha Washington and James and Dolley Madison appear as the feted guests.

PARTIES

A masquerade party has been arranged by a committee of teachers at the McKinley school for parents and friends of the school children Thursday evening at the McKinley gymnasium. Pupils will not be asked to attend. Dan Courtney's orchestra will play for dancing. Prizes will be awarded to the best dressed man, the best dressed woman, and the funniest dressed man and woman. Proceeds from the party will be used for activities of the school children. The committee in charge includes Walter Fox, chairman, and the Misses Lona Drahem, Pearl Fellows and Elsie Sandburg.

A schafkopf and dice tournament was started Sunday evening at the home of John Baum of the Town of Grand Chute. Another meeting of the group will be held in two weeks. Thirty-five men were present.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Channer, 515 W. Prospect, entertained members of the Purty League at bridge Saturday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Emil A. Walther and W. Arthur Emile. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Cecile Fox. A reading will be given of the morals of the young people of today.

Mrs. Gust. Solle, 719 E. Brewster, entertained members of the Rainbow club and their husbands at a Washington party Sunday night. The house was decorated in keeping with the occasion. Five hundred was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Louis Benjamin, Mrs. Herman Heins, Louis Benjamin and George Krueger.

Mrs. Charles Schrimpf, Sr., 1403 S. Madison, was surprised by a group of friends and relatives Sunday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. Cards, dice and music furnished entertainment. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Charles Schrimpf, Sr., John Kraft, Jr., Otto Schrimpf, and at dice by Mrs. Frank Schrimpf and Mrs. Alois Seidl. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Grassl, Mr. and Mrs. John Kraft, Sr., Jacob Mauthe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schrimpf, and children, Elizabeth and Robert, Miss Louise MacGillivray, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schrimpf, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John Kraft, Jr., Norbert Mauthe, Mr. and Mrs. Alois Seidl and daughter, Miss Margaret Mauthe and Otto Schrimpf.

The Rev. P. J. Skell, pastor of Holy Cross Catholic church at Kaukauna will entertain the "Safety First" play given last week by the Young Ladies Sodality of the church and officers of the society, at a dinner at the Conway hotel Tuesday evening. Dancing will follow the dinner.

Thirty-one couples attended the formal dinner dance given by Phi Mu sorority of Lawrence college in the crystal room of the Conway hotel Saturday evening. Miss Florence Marx of Marinette, an alumna of the organization, returned for the party. Chaplains were Prof. and Mrs. Fred Fairbridge and Mrs. Otto P. Fairfield and Dan Courtney's orchestra played for dancing.

Mrs. Leigh Wolfe, N. Rankin-st., entertained five tables at bridge in honor of Miss Marjorie Debridge of Marinette Thursday evening. Miss Debridge will marry a brother of Mrs. Wolfe, William Cotton of Laurel, Miss., in the spring.

Honor Dr. And Mrs. Holmes
On Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Holmes were given a reception by members of the congregation of the First Methodist church Sunday evening in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. At the close of the vespers services at which John Ross Frampton, professor at Lawrence conservatory of music, gave an organ recital, the anniversary was announced by Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college. The reception was held in the dining room of the church. Mrs. O. P. Schlafer and Mrs. N. H. Brokaw poured tea.

A brilliant recital was played by Prof. Frampton who is well acquainted with the instrument at the church. He is organist at the regular services of the church. His arrangement of "Love's Old Sweet Song" called "Memories" particularly appealed to the audience. A rousing number was presented in Lemmens' "Fantasie," the storm. Both the solo and main organ were used to great advantage by the organist. His "Prelude to Lohengrin" from Wagner was interpreted especially well. Prof. Frampton is a master of technique.

Approximately 400 people heard the recital.

More Like a Lovely Home Than a Mortuary

This is an expression we hear very frequently—that our new mortuary is like a beautiful home loaned to our community in the one emergency for which no private home is every designed. It is our whole-hearted gift to the city in which it has been our privilege to serve for almost half a century.

Hard Fighting Orange and Black Team Tackles Strong Bay Squad

Kaukauna—Kaukauna High school meets West Green Bay basketball team at Green Bay Monday evening. The squad left by interurban car early Monday afternoon. The game will be played in the Green Bay Y. M. C. A. C. gymnasium. There has been considerable rivalry between Kaukauna and Green Bay in the past few years and the Orange and Black squads have managed to win a couple of basketball games from the down river team. Every game between the two schools has been close and has been decided only in the last few minutes of play.

This year West has an exceedingly strong team while Kaukauna has a comparatively weak but hard fighting team. It showed the fight it had in its game with Clintonville here Friday night when Clintonville won by only one point margin after Kaukauna had been forced to play without its regular center, McFadden. McFadden was out because of infection in his foot and it was extremely doubtful whether he could play against the Bay Monday night. "Dimey" has had a bad heel since the start of the season but his determination to play the game has kept him in until the doctor ordered him to quit.

With McFadden out Coach William Smith's best combination seems to be Macrole at center, Verbeten and Esler at the forwards and Nore and Kronforst at guards. This combination worked the greater part of the final quarter in the Clintonville-Kaukauna game and looked great. Nore showed up well at guard.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Mrs. Herbert Weckworth 3515; Crooks-ave entertained at a bridge party at her home Friday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Julius J. Martens and Mrs. Elliott Zelind.

Miss Sally Miller entertained the Chess club at her home Thursday evening. The time was spent in playing bridge.

The U. R. club met at the home of Miss Edith Treptow Friday evening. The evening was spent in playing cards and sewing.

A regular meeting of the International Association of Machinists and Helpers was held Saturday evening in the south side Forester hall. A fish fry was a feature of the meeting.

The editorial and business staffs of the Kaukauna High school year book, The Papyrus and the cast of the senior class play, "A Pair of Sixes" held a party in the domestic science rooms of the high school building Saturday night. Games were played and the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing.

A regular meeting of the Free and Accepted Masons will be held Monday evening in the Masonic hall on Third-st. Routine business will be transacted.

Plans for the Fox River Valley Forester Bowling tournament will be made at a meeting of the Holy Cross court of the Catholic Order of Foresters Monday evening in the north side Forester hall. A booyah will be served.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Phillip will hold its regular meeting Friday evening in the Immanuel Reformed church hall. Plans are being made to secure a speaker for the evening.

The second match in the schafkopf tournament between the Past Grands and the Third Degree members of the Odd Fellows will be held Thursday evening in the Odd Fellows hall on Third-st. The Third Degree members won the first match by 58 points.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

ZWICK IN EXCELLENT
SHAPE FOR RING FIGHT

Kaukauna—Phil Zwick appears to be in the best of shape for his bout Tuesday evening with "Snake" Arguando in Armory G in Appleton. Since arriving in Kaukauna Friday afternoon Zwick has spent some time every day working out in the Legion building. He shadow boxes, skips rope and punches the bag, and on Sunday afternoon he sparred a couple of minutes with his brother Jack. A couple of hundred fight fans have watched Zwick workout.

ENGINE CAB TUMBLES
INTO POWER CANAL

Kaukauna—It took a Chicago and Northwestern locomotive to pull an engine cab away from the racks in the canal front of the Kaukauna electric power plant Saturday morning. The cab fell into the canal just beyond the gates by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad after being rolled off a flat car, preparatory to being burned up. Instead of stopping the cab continued rolling and dropped over the canal embankment into the canal where it floated down to the racks.

BLONDE OR BRUNETTE? AT FISCHERS TODAY

Henri Martel, young Paris attorney suddenly realizes that friends have turned his beautiful home into a road-house. His disgust drives him to walk on the roof and drink a toast to the proposition that he may never set eyes on them again. At the railway station, he calls for a 100-franc ticket in any direction. Landing at a small Breton watering place where he can find only a speck and span old-fashioned carriage, he sits in it. To him comes a sweet old lady.

They ride to the lady's home and she invites him to stay. He accepts and is introduced to her son and daughter-in-law. Then down the stairs comes her granddaughter, Fanny. Fanny, tired of flappers, succeeds when he learns she does not drink or smoke and has never even heard of the Charleston. He takes his bride to Paris and proudly introduces her to his wife. When called away on business, he leaves his demure country flower in Fanny's care.

He returns to find Fanny transformed. She is surrounded by the same crowd that he previously had kicked out. She drinks, smokes, Charles-ton and expects Henri to love her the more for being up-to-date. The house becomes a rendezvous for the fast crowd that revolves about Fanny. A divorce follows, opposed by Fanny, who says it will break her grandmother's heart, but an effort is made to keep it secret.

Henri marries Fanny but regrets it when he finds she makes life dull.

One day while Fanny is calling for Henri and Henri's home, in walks papa and mama, sent by grandma to find out how things are going. Henri and Fanny immediately stage a fake quarrel to prepare papa for the bad news. They are succeeding in deceiving him when a blundering detective, by pure chance, and explodes everything by producing facts concerning the concealed divorce and second marriage. Mama faints and papa tears his hair because if grandma should discover the truth, she'll disinherit all of them. They hatch a plot and return in a body to convince Arrived, Grandma insists that Henri kiss his wife. Starting toward Fanny, he remembers and turns to Fanny. Bedtime complicates matters. Grandma won't let Henri and Fanny separate.

Finally the situation becomes impossible. Then grandma springs her bombshell. She has known of the divorce all the time and merely invited them down to find out who loved whom.

Henri can't have Fanny and Fanny won't have him so he is driven to lying down outside Fanny's door. Not to be outdone in devotion, Fanny curls up on the inside and with a door between them they fall asleep, their fingers hooked to gether through the crack underneath.

SMASHING CLIMAX IN "BLUE EAGLE"

Headed by George O'Brien and an all star cast, "The Blue Eagle," Fox Films gripping screen version of Ger-ald Beaumont's romantic story of land and sea, will open a two day engagement at the New Bijou Theatre today.

Janet Gaynor plays the leading feminine role. Directed by John Ford, who wielded the megaphone during the filming of "The Iron Horse," this story moves rapidly to a smashing climax.

It hinges upon the love of a girl, both George D'Arcy (George O'Brien) and Big Tim Ryan (William Russell) battling for her hand, and it runs the gamut of emotions when the World War puts a temporary stop to gang hostilities in which D'Arcy and Big Tim are involved.

Father Joe, a great-hearted parish arborer who has not time to worry about his own troubles because he is too busy adjusting those of others, plays a prominent part in the story.

Both D'Arcy and Big Tim love Rose Cooper (Miss Gaynor) but Father Joe, in a diplomatic arrangement, proves to both fighters that only one can have Rose. Thousands of American "gobs" are

WATER WHEEL CAPACITY 11 MILLION HORSEPOWER

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington, D. C.—The total capacity of water wheels in water-power plants in the United States on Jan. 1, 1927, was 11,721,000 horsepower, an increase of 514,000 horsepower for the year, according to a report just issued by the Department of the Interior's Geological Survey and the Federal Power commission.

Wisconsin ranked eighth among the states in developed waterpower. Except for the states on the Pacific and Atlantic Coasts Wisconsin, Minnesota and Alabama were the only ones to have any considerable water power development.

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. All the Jugglers ARE NOT in Vaudeville

Balanced accounts don't always mean honest bookkeeping. Unfortunately, all the jugglers are not in vaudeville. Consider, for example, that Memphis bank teller who disappeared last October, leaving a shortage of $463,000. For three years he had juggled his accounts so cleverly that fifteen audits failed to disclose any discrepancies. The treasurer of a religious organization in Richmond was also found recently to be a skillful juggler. So cleverly had he manipulated his accounts during the last six years that he managed to get away with $27,000, despite quarterly audits by certified public accountants. There is no preventive for dishonesty! But, there is an effective antidote. Fidelity Bonds, in adequate amounts! Fidelity Bonds make good the losses caused by dishonesty and counteract the effects.

WILD shooting and irregular floor work cost Lawrence college's basketball team another game Saturday night. Coe college of Cedar Rapids, Ia., stopping Coach Christoph's men, 24 to 20. It marked the second consecutive defeat of Lawrence by the Iowa quint.

With the exception of the first five minutes, Lawrence was always behind, although a belated rally late in the game brought the Blue cagers within striking distance. The rally was cut short by the final gun, however, leaving the Appleton cagers four points in the rear.

Captain Grove and Briese, Lawrence guards, were ejected from play late in the final period with four personal fouls. Slavick, a frosh, and Bendt substituted.

Sund, who suddenly found his eye for the hoop several weeks ago, again led the Lawrentians in the scoring column, caging two field goals and five throws from the foul line for nine points. Hillman added four more points with two baskets and Briese got a similar count on four free throws.

Lamb, Coe's lanky forward, set the pace for his teammates with 10 points, contributing three field goals and four foul tosses. Hubbard, bespectacled guard, also found the hoop three times from scrimmage.

Lawrence jumped into the lead at the first tipoff when Sund counted from under the basket. He was fouled while making the shot, and sunk one of the two free throws awarded him. A moment later he was fouled again while attempting to shoot, and again he made a free throw.

Leading 4 to 0, a Lawrence man fouled Hubbard, who counted a basket from the foul line for Coe's first point. Sund added another single point for the Christoph team on a gift shot, but at that instant the game took on a different aspect.

Moeller, who had substituted for Otto at center, dropped the ball in the net from scrimmage, and his feat encouraged two of his teammates to do likewise, Lamb doing it twice for good measure. Sund and Moeller each added a free throw in the second quarter, and the half ended with Lawrence trailing, 6 to 10. All six of Lawrence's points in the first half were made by Sund.

When the game was resumed, Coe started out to make the score look like the result of a track meet, adding seven more points on two field goals and three free throws before Lawrence came to life. The score was evened up somewhat by Sund and Hillman, each counting a basket. Sund's shot was a perfect one from the side, and Hillman scored from about 20 or 25 feet in front of the hoop.

Lamb added two more points for Coe with two free throws. Briese again made a free throw good, but Coe was stubborn. Hubbard scoring his third field goal of the game a few minutes later.

With Coe ahead 24 to 14, and with about half of the final period gone, Lawrence came through with a spurt which gave them six more points while they held their opponents scoreless. It wasn't enough to win, but it showed the spectators what Coach Christoph's team can do.

Hillman located the hoop from scrimmage to start the rally. Sund came through with a free throw, and Hillman scored a long one from the center of the floor. Briese added his fourth free toss a minute later, but the report of the gun ended any hopes which the Blues entertained of overtaking the Lawrentians.

Lawrence's forwards, Heideman and Clark, apparently have lost their eyes for the basket, neither having been able to average more than one or two baskets a game this season. Sund

HAWKEYES DESERT HOME COURTS FOR GAME WITH CARDS

Battle for 1st, 2nd Places in Ancient Rivalry at Madison Tuesday

Iowa City—The home court of the University of Iowa basketball team was deserted Monday as the Hawkeyes travelled to Madison after three consecutive games at Iowa City. Wisconsin's top-notch team will be played for the first time this season Tuesday evening.

Keen rivalry exists between Coach Sam Barry of Iowa and Walter Meunier of Wisconsin. It will be renewed after a lapse of a year with the Badger mentor holding the edge of three of four games won. In 1923, Barry's first year at Iowa, the teams tied for the championship but did not meet and the coaches have been trying partly to settle the question ever since.

When two similar styles of play conflict, the result is often a desperate tight battle with little smooth basketball. Such may be the case Tuesday evening for both coaches have teams drilled in the short, bounce pass type of game and both can construct barriers of defense.

The Hawkeyes will have to cope with Behr, the forward who is the best of the Badger scorers. Tenhopen, center, and Andrews, the other forward are also dangerous players.

A schedule which sent the Wisconsin five against Chicago, Northwestern and Ohio State twice and against a first division team only once, leaves the Badgers almost untested. Iowa banks on experience gained in games with Purdue, Michigan, Illinois and the upper stratum, to pull through the Badger contest.

BADGER BOWLERS IN LEAD IN TOURNAMENT

Minneapolis—(AP)—The Minnesota Dry Cleaners of St. Paul, with a score of 3,037 are the new five-men champions of the International bowling association. The final match of the tournament failed to dislodge them from their position and they won $500 as first prize.

The Minnerites of Chicago, with 3,028, won second place and $400. The O'Henry Candys of Chicago with 3,017 were third, winning $300.

The last shift Sunday night brought only one important change in the standings, with the Marquises Clothing Co. team of Fargo, finishing fourth with 3,002 good for $250.

The finals in the singles and doubles were being rolled Monday. A heavy onslaught by outsiders brought many changes in the individual and singles during Sunday's long shifts.

A 1,294 count by Tony Schwogger and Joe Hackett of Madison brought them on top in the doubles, with M. Kuchan and R. Pearson, of Chicago second with 1,235.

Billy Sixty of Milwaukee had a 676 for the lead in the singles, with L. Bunning of Chicago only three pins behind.

RAILWAY PINMEN WIN FROM SHANNON QUINT

Chicago, Northwestern railroad bowlers took two games of a match with the S. C. Shannon Co. on the Eagle alleys, winning by 27 pins. The Railway lost the opener by 65 pins and took the second by 79 to forge ahead. The third was won by 12 more. The Shannon men had a 150 pin handicap.

Greene of the winners lead both teams with a 208 game, high for his squad, and a 563 series, high for the match. W. Walsh of the losers had high game of the match, a 210, and T. Stark had high series for the losers with a 450. No other 200 games were rolled.

APPLETON K. C. FIVES ROLL MARCH 4 AND 20

Two of the Appleton pin fives in the Wisconsin State Knights of Columbus Bowling tourney at Fond du Lac from Feb. 12 to March 27, will roll on Thursday, March 3, and the remainder on 14 will take the drives on Sunday March 20. On the former date the Post Crescents, captained by Ralph Geo and the Appleton K. C. No. 697 will roll on the S. p. m. shift and the doubles and singles competitors on the two squads will roll at 4 and 4:30 in the afternoon.

Three local fives, Wolf's Shoes, Good Fellows and Comalones will roll at 10 a. m. on March 20, 10 others at noon and another, the Belles T. Co. will roll their doubles at 5:40 and 7:20 p. m. and the singles at 6:30.

HAGEN LEADS SARAZEN AT START OF BATTLE

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—Walter Hagen, professional golf champion, has a good start toward avenging two ranking defeats administered to him in recent years by Gene Sarazen.

In the first half of a 72 hole special match was completed Sunday, Hagen led three up. The match will be finished next Sunday.

Sarazen's card of 75 disclosed one six. Hagen had a 73.

JIM DOLLS UP

JIM MALONEY

Here's Jim Maloney, winner from Jack Delaney recently, as he looked after spending part of his end of the gate for some new togs. The Bostonian got $55,000 for his fighting. Looks real nifty, eh? His next fight will be against the winner of the Sharkey-McTigue battle, all of which is a part of Tex Rickard's elimination contest to determine Gene Tunney's next opponent.

BLUES HOLD BOUTS IN MITT TOURNAMENT

Westberg, Shemanski Fight Way into Finals of All-College Meet

Elimination matches for all-college boxing championships in two classes were presented to basketball fans at Armory G Saturday evening preceded by the Lawrence Coe game. A third match, scheduled to be held between Lael Westberg and Scott the third, was postponed because of the illness of one of the contestants.

Lael Westberg, '28 will enter the final round for the 155 pound championship as a result of his defeat of Bob English, '30. The youths battled for four rounds of two minutes each. Westberg getting a shade in each round.

Len Shemanski, '29, was awarded a shade over Charles Scott, '29, in the 145 pound class. Shemanski won the first two rounds and Scott the third. They battled three rounds.

Shemanski was aggressor in the first two rounds, his rushing tactics forcing Scott all over the mat. Both men were off the mat on innumerable occasions. Shemanski scored a knockdown on Scott in the first round and they were off the mat, but Scott weathered the storm and came back enough to win the final round.

SHEIKS, BEARS LEAD IN KIMBERLY LEAGUE

Kimberly—Huntington's Sheiks and Vander Zanden's Bears retained first and second places in the Kimberly league when the Sheiks whipped Schene's Midgets 14-8 and the Bears defeated Le May's Buckeyes by a 24-15 score. The game between Vic's Frenchmen and Red's Aces was postponed due to the absence of some players.

In the junior loop Hopkins Stars took another win from Rusty's Wildcats by a 6-2 count.

STRONG RIVALRY IN ILLINOIS CONTESTS

Chicago—(AP)—The middlewest's leading colleges and universities have nominated more than 600 athletes to take part next Saturday in the annual relay carnival at Champaign.

Two indoor meets last Saturday resulted in performances that promise the breaking of some records at the carnival. Ohio State's feat, winning all four relays in a quadrangular meet at Northwestern in which Northwestern, Wisconsin and Chicago also competed singled out the Columbus school as a serious threat at the Illinois meets.

Another bit of athletic excellence was Dorsenmuller's (Northwestern) vaulting of 13 feet which bettered the world record by one foot. Dorsenmuller cleared the bar with inches to spare indicating that he is capable of going even higher if pressed.

Fast huddlers were revealed in Cuba, Iowa, who won both hurdle events in the "Iowa-Illinois dual meet" and in McGinnis, Wisconsin, who equalled a meet record in the quadrangular games by doing the 40-yard high hurdles in .25.4 seconds. Other Big Ten schools have revealed specialized strength.

Non-conference schools, too, are sending impressive track and field teams which generally are regarded as likely to provide formidable competition to Big Ten performers.

LARGE KAUKAUNA CROWD WILL BACK ZWICK ON TUESDAY

Ticket Sale Rapid in Kaw City, but Many Good Seats Still Left

One of the largest sales of tickets for an Appleton boxing show is reported for the first winter card of the Appleton Athletic club which will feature Phil Zwick of Kaukauna, and Snake Aguinaldo of the Philippines Tuesday evening at Armory G. Already the sale is as large as that of any fight card here and by Monday evening it was expected to far surpass that mark. Kaukauna, Zwick's home town, has purchased a half of the duets and indications are that the city will move to Appleton in a body of the night to cheer their boy to victory. Many good seats still can be purchased at Jones' and Miller and Runtz.

The complete card with final revisions shows 25 rounds of fast milling opening with a four-round battle between Dick Boya, Appleton's fighting taxi driver, and Young O'Neill, Milwaukee, at 142 pounds. Boya has been out of the ring for nearly a year but is in perfect condition and with hard training daily is ready for his comeback scrap. Local fans remember his hard fighting here in the old days.

The second bout is all Appleton with Mickey Mack and Earl Rogers, ancient enemies, settling the city 135-pound title. In six rounds, a dispute which they have waged on paper for the last two years. Appleton again is represented in the semi-windup by Mike Merkle, in the attempt of the promoters to give local talent as much chance as possible. The speedy Greek will travel eight rounds with Joe McLean, class of Milwaukee's 130-pounders.

Phil Zwick has run out of opponents in Cleveland because of his punching and great fighting in that vicinity and from Appleton he will proceed to California to battle Du Wadhams, Joe Levy and Tommy Simpson in April.

The little Kaukauna boy is showing a lot of improvement and has worked out for his Appleton fight with Charley O'Connell, a star lightweight.

Charley and Phil boxed three rounds one afternoon and it was a great slugfest. After the finish O'Connell complimented him, saying, "If there is a featherweight in this country who can beat you I would like to meet him—you are a real boxer, have a good change of pace, and you hit about as hard as any lightweight I ever met in the ring."

Johnny Rini, who made good at Milwaukee with Harry Kahn, boxed two rounds, and tells sure he will make a hit with the Wisconsin fans. Phil is a rugged puncher and hits as hard as Kahn. Kahn once told Whitey Berghausen that he gave him more trouble than Barbarian, or any lightweight he ever met. Whitey states that he wishes Kahn would box a few rounds with Zwick.

Zwick finished his afternoon workout with two fast rounds with Joe Peppers, another good Cleveland lightweight and then issued this statement:

"I am in shape and have seen Snake Aguinaldo fight and know he is a strong, clever, tough boy, but I feel confident I will be returned the winner. I am glad to get back where I started from, to show the boys how I have improved since I left my old home town."

FRENCHMEN LOSE 1ST GAME IN K-C LEAGUE

Kimberly—Courchane's Terrible Frenchmen took their first defeat of the season Friday evening in the Kimberly Friday Evening Basketball league when Bourassa's Sidney-Swedes set them back to the tune of a 20-25 count. Schwanke's Fast Five took third place by defeating Modersson's Lumberjacks, 39-22. The Frenchmen with seven wins and one defeat lead the loop; the Swedes held second, having won four and lost four; the Fast Five with three wins and five defeats hold third while the Lumberjacks slipped back into the loop cellar with two wins and six defeats.

In the first game the Swedes led throughout and were ahead 17-12 at half time. Van Handle starred for the Swedes caging six baskets and three free throws followed by Bourassa with five baskets. Willis, Gossens and Verbeten got three ringers apiece for the Frenchmen.

In the second game the Fast Five and Lumberjacks were tied 11-11 at half time. Du Chaine with six baskets was high scorer for the Fast Five followed by Schwanke with five and a free throw. Gossens caged five baskets and three free throws for the Lumberjacks.

LEFTY'S ACES WHIP BAY PRESS-GAZETTES

Kimberly—Lefty's Aces defeated the Press Gazette squad of Green Bay in a fast game Saturday evening at the Clubhouse by a 24-20 count. The Aces had easy going during the first two quarters and scored 13 points to the Bay squad's 4. In the last chapters the visitors became better acquainted with the floor and caged five ringers and six free shots to four baskets and three free throws my the Aces.

Gossens with three baskets and two free throws was high scorer for Kimberly.

Vander Zanden with three baskets, Le May with two and a free throw and Du Pont with one and a free shot, completed the K-C scoring. Tilken's caged three baskets and the free throws, N. Pigeon two and three, S. Pigeon one and one and Ristosh a free throw for the Bay crew.

The Inneups: Kimberly—Courchane, Le May, and Gossens, forwards; Du Pont, center and Cooke, De Wildt, Vander Zanden and Vander Veldon guards.

Green Bay—Ristosh and N. Pigeon, forwards; S. Pigeon center, and Kallier, E. Pigeon and Tilken's guards.

Broken Threads

CHAPTER XLVIII

"I began to realize for the first time," Jim Elwell continued, "that I had acted the part of a selfish, thoughtless cad in marrying you the way I did, Betty, and asking you to keep it secret. It wasn't fair to you, even if you hadn't come into a fortune, for neither of you girls had ever come around with any fellows—except Dick Canfield and me—and I had no right to tie you up the way I did. Dick did the honorable thing. Dick naturally would."

"The upshot of the matter was that I told Mollie and Prof the whole truth—that is, all except which girl it was I had married. That they didn't know until just a few minutes ago when Betty told them."

"We talked the thing over and decided it was only right and fair to give you a chance, Betty—you know, a chance to get free. Knowing you pretty well, we felt reasonably sure that you wouldn't take the chance if it was offered to you in the ordinary way—that is, to give you a divorce."

He paused a moment while he patted Betty's arm. "So we decided to let you go on believing me bughouse for a while—six months at least. You were to have your fling—to go to Europe and mix with other men and if you found one—the right one—then I would have made it easy for you to get your freedom. And that's why Mollie wrote you to tell you to go ahead with your European trip and forget about me. But—"

"But—I fooled you, didn't I, Mister Fiddler? Now you've got to go to Europe with your little wife and if she catches you flirting with any of those nurses—war nurses, I mean—well, it won't be very healthy for you."

Jim leaned back and smiled contentedly, blissfully unaware of the fact that during a certain period of his "living death" his action had really given his mother cause for great anxiety and would have worried his wife considerably if she had known more about them.

"Just the same, Jim," Martha Dalton spoke reprovingly, "I think it was a mean trick to play on the girls. If you had seen these girls tonight when they were waiting for you to go home—honestly, I thought they would be nervous wrecks, both of them."

"And then, too," she added, "keeping this good news away from them for all these weeks, when they just as well could have known and been happy instead of heartbroken. Jim, I think you've been cruel."

Martha Dalton spoke as if she was mad. Jim, "look it" smilingly. When she had finished he said, "Can't help it, old dear, but that's just the way I felt about it. I had no business tying Betty up with a marriage and then going away to war and expecting her to shut her eyes every time she saw another man. And now since she's become an heiress she must have to use a guard to keep the men away."

"All I need," remarked Betty humorously, "is Rusty's slipper. Eh, Margaret?"

"I didn't get that," said Jim, "but I'll find out later. I hope you girls forgive me for playing this little trick. Do you?"

They did.

"And you, Martha?"

"Well, just this once, Jim. But please don't ever—honestly, you all most broke my poor heart."

"That wasn't the only stubborn thing he did," remarked Mollie. Elwell. "Imagine going away to war and asking me not to try to find out which of the girls he was in love with. He was afraid, mind you, that if I knew which one it was I would favor her at the expense of the other in case he died overseas. Now, can you imagine any body of mine being as misguided as all that?"

"And can you imagine him being as misguided as to think that I would desert him?" demanded Betty.

"Let the boy alone," said Prof. "I won't have you women picking on him like that. There are a few things about us men they'll never understand—ch, Jim?"

That was true, Jim said. "You mustn't blame Mollie," he said to Martha, "for what she said in her letter. If you'll remember, what she said was that there wasn't one chance in a thousand that I'd ever be any better mentally. Well, the chances are I won't. So there wasn't any lies in the letters I thought I could play possum until the twins had gone to Europe, and then if Betty hadn't found a man by the time she came back I could try all over again with her myself."

And so, said Jim, there they were. Nothing more to tell, and mighty sorry if he had upset them. "But all's well that ends well, you know, and besides, it wasn't as if we'd gone out of our way to make you suffer. You never really expected to see me come home well again."

They were interrupted by the ringing of the telephone. Prof. jumped up to answer it. He came back after a long while, to tell them that John Clayton had called up.

"He got Mike's telegram, and he said the only thing that keeps him from getting drunk to celebrate the vent is that he has made it a life-long rule to limit his drinking to one cocktail before dinner.

"He says he'll be over here tomorrow forenoon and that Mike is to stay here as a companion to Jim until Jim is strong again, when he's got a job all picked out for Mike, turning a cigar store he just bought out. 'Now's that strike you, Mike?'"

Betty suddenly lifted her head to look at Martha Dalton. "Why?" she accused, "you've forgotten the peach pie, Dally?"

"Peach pie?" Jim exclaimed. "Dally's peach pie? Boy, bring her on!"

Martha Dalton waddled off to the kitchen to fetch it, and Betty continued to Jim that she had decided to allow the operative stars to retain their laurels.

"And Rusty," she added, "will be willing to pass up her chances of being another Pavlova. Tell 'em, Rusty, about Dick Canfield."

Rusty blushing admitted that Dick was coming all the way from California, where he had a good job, on the strength of some answers she had given to his questions in a letter.

"And while you folks are so joyful let me remark that I know of a nurse and a newspaperman up in

New York who are not so miserable," wrote it on my night off, would that square things with you?"

It certainly would, the city editor admitted. "If it's real hot, Jack, I might be induced to put through a memorandum for a raise for you. I've been thinking of it for some time, but I wanted something to hang it on—make it look good to the front office, you know."

That was how Jack Nevin came, to write the story of his life for the Planet—the best "human interest" story, the editor remarked the next day, that he had ever seen in his paper, and a scoop too. "Whoever wrote it, send him in to me. I have something to tell him."

"You see," Jack told Nellie Downing when he had turned in his story to the city desk and the city editor had leaped nearly two feet in the air and shouted madly to the night editor to make a big front page "hole." "The yarn seems to have made a hit. It's all your fault, too, and I'm beginning to think that if I stuck pretty close to you I'll get along in the newspaper game."

Nellie Downing gazed pensively at her hands.

"I hate," Nevin told her, "to ask you to take a man who's only got

EXTENSION MEN WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE

Marshall Graff and E. M. Gorow of the district office of the University of Wisconsin Extension division will go to Madison next Friday to attend a conference of district representatives and field organizers of the division that day and Saturday. The conference was called by Dean Chester D. Schnell, head of the division, to work on new ideas for extra service and to broaden the division field.

One leg, but how could a cripple like me do better than to get a nurse for a wife?"

Well, Nellie admitted, there certainly was something in that.

Thus had the ends of the broken threads in the lives of the Elwells and their friends been caught up and tied together again.

Mother Destiny, beginning with that stormy night in October of 1898, had laid their lives in devious and baffling ways but had straightened them out at last.

THE END.

FORMER HORTONVILLE MAN HEADS SOCIETY

Dr. Robert H. Buck, son of Charles F. Buck, a retired merchant of Hortonville was recently elected president.

Dean Schnell came to Wisconsin as one of the foremost extension men of the country and the local men said that he had prepared plans for more efficient service and more work with people of the communities.

One Thin Woman Gained 15 Pounds In 5 Weeks

Leath's-Sincere, Cheerful—Credit to those who wish it

Everyone knows how it hurts to be neglected by those who have risen higher in the scale of life—how painful it is to have their credit undermined or their character attacked by false insinuations.

We all know what it means to be cheated or mistreated. Every human being has experienced the humiliation of having some stouter heart or stronger will, push him to one side.

We all know how happy it makes us feel to receive help when we are in distress—to have a kind and encouraging word from a friend—to have a higher hope revealed to us in our struggles. And so, by this pain and humiliation and through this pleasure, we should better know the best way to treat others.

WAUPACA CAGE TEAM
DEFEATS WEYAUWEGA

Two Over-time Periods Necessary to Break Tie; Score, 18 to 16

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—The largest crowd, that has gathered at a basketball game here this season witnessed Waupaca's victory over Weyauwega Friday night. The final score was 18 to 16. At the end of the time the score was tied at 15 to 15, two over-time periods were necessary to finish the game. Weyauwega, up to this time, was first in the conference and is its first loss this year. The Waupaca team will play at Kaukauna next Friday night.

On Wednesday night Antigo will meet Waupaca in a debate team here and the affirmative team of Waupaca will travel to Antigo.

A total of 99 patients was examined at the two health centers held at Clintonville and Waupaca on Wednesday and Thursday respectively, of this week. Clintonville broke all previous records of the health centers in Waupaca, by having 60 patients. Many from the rural districts and nearby villages make great efforts to be present at these monthly clinics at which maternity, infant and preschool patients are examined. Dr. Charlotte Calvert of the state board of health, assisted by Mrs. Hazel Barton, county nurse, conducted the examinations.

Mrs. Sina Evenson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everetts, of Milwaukee, were in the city Friday on their way to Marion to visit Mrs. Evenson's daughter, Mrs. Otto Mortenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crossett. The latter is their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Erle Whipple entertained Mr. and Mrs. Crossett and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard at a 6 o'clock dinner Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Soren Johnson spent several days in Milwaukee the past week.

Miss Floy Christenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Christenson, has been visiting her parents a few days before going to the hospital at Berlin for nursing.

Mrs. Harry Rawson entertained at two tables of bridge Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Whale of Elgin, Ill.

LaGrande Keating, principal of the Embarras State Graded school, transacted business in Waupaca Saturday.

RODEOS IN HAWAII
Lihue, Kauai — Such names as "Palm Tree Pete," "Surfing Sam," "Lava Lawrence" and "Thin Poi Teddy" may come into being in place of the similarly descriptive nicknames of the Old West, if interest in rodeos and round-ups in the Hawaiian Islands continues at its present pace.

Roping and bull-dogging the wild mountain steer is becoming a popular attraction at island celebrations. A new record for roping was recently hung up here by a Hawaiian cowboy, who caught, threw and tied an animal in 32 seconds.

Bears in Wloming, Colorado and New Mexico are causing trouble and electric transmission lines by climbing the poles in search of honey.

Once a School Teacher— Later a Famous Physician
A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save enough money to put him thru medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pennsylvania, and often rode horseback through the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and easily recognized most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Finally, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known general tonic for building up strength, restoring unpaired tissues and enriching the blood. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell it, in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

It consisted of Ada Bentzler, as street commissioner, Mildred Novotny, Irene Dodge, DeVera Bohman, Magdalena Bohr, Dora Bentzler, Anita Luebke of this city, and Laura Rier of New London, who acted as street cleaners. The group of boys who masked as convicts attracted much attention. Clement Bohr, Ernest Bohman, Kenneth Spearbraker, Kenneth Wurl, Leon Heuer, Martin Boelter and Chester Bentzler were among those included in that group.

Laura Rier of New London, was a weekend guest at the home of Miss Ada Bentzler.

DeVera Bohman spent the weekend with friends and relatives at Tigerton.

Miss Eunice Shaw, a former domestic science teacher in this city, spent the weekend with some of the local teachers.

Adrian Malvez of Caroline, was a visitor with friends here on Friday evening.

YOUTHS ARRESTED FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Two youths, arrested at Armory G Sunday evening for disorderly conduct, were arraigned in municipal court Monday morning.

Henry Westphal, 1619 N. Appleton, pleaded not guilty, and his case will be heard at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Victor Podolski, 713 Third-st. S., pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs or sentenced to five days in the county jail. He took the latter alternative.

They were arrested by Sgt. John Duval.

3 YOUNG MEN FINED FOR STEALING COAT

Three young men Monday morning pleaded guilty in municipal court to stealing an overcoat, and each was fined $10 and costs. They were William Winkelman, 821 N. Appleton; Arthur L. Fond, 621 N. Superior; and Alex Kiebas, Arcade-bldg. The complaint was Martin Salm. The alleged theft took place at the Joe Pruede home in the town of Grand Chute Sunday evening, police report.

AMUNDSON WILL SPEAK AT OCONTO-CO FAIR

Robert A. Amundson, county agent, will be to Coleman Monday night to attend the midwinter fair of that community the following day. Mr. Amundson will deliver an address there Tuesday afternoon. Before coming to Appleton, Mr. Amundson was county agent of Oconto-co, and was instrumental in conducting the first midwinter fair there eight years ago. The fair has been an annual affair ever since.

COUNTY SHIPPERS TALK PROPOSED RATE BOOST

The Outagamie-co Shipping association will send a delegate to the next rate hearing if it is deemed necessary, it was decided Saturday afternoon at the quarterly meeting at the courthouse. The proposed increase in rates by middle western carriers was discussed by the shippers.

ALL BABIES WELCOMED AT FREE BABY CLINIC

Babies who are well and those who are symptomatic of illness will be welcomed at the free baby clinic sponsored by the Appleton Womens club at the clubhouse from 9 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon Wednesday. Dr. Sylvia Stuessy of the state board of health will be the examining physician.

COURTHOUSE WILL BE CLOSED ON TUESDAY

Offices in the courthouse will be closed Tuesday, Feb. 22, in observance of Washington's birthday, a legal holiday. Business will be resumed as usual Wednesday morning.

Companionship will be discussed by the Rev. Phillip Lange, pastor of Hope Lutheran church of Milwaukee, at the second in a series of lectures presented by Mount Olive Lutheran church at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. The speaker is well known among church audiences in the state. Evils of bad and benefits of good companionship will be the topics considered by the lecturer.

Senate Offers Melodrama As It Debates Tax Refund

Washington—(AP)—There is no justice in a melodrama in one act, presented at the Capitol by the Senate Stock Company. The cast: Squire Hardacre, the village mortgage-holder, hated yet feared by farmers miles around; Mr. Irvine K. Lenroot.

Deacon Simpkins, a good old gent dominated by the wicked squire; Reed Smoot.

Sally Smoot, his beautiful ward; worth $250,000, whom he has promised to Hardacre.

Jack Strongbone, poor but honest lad, returned home from the city dead broke, but hoping to win Sally and pay off the mortgage.

Pa and Ma Strongbone, simple old folk who must sit helpless, hoping with anxious hearts to save the old home.

Mr. and Mrs. Allus taxpayers.

Zeb Perkins, comical hick supervisor of Strongbone farm, who knows the heart of Sally.

Farmhands, plotting to keep the farm for the Strongbones.

Pat Harrison, Royal S. Copeland, Walter F. George, M. M. Neely and others.

Hon. Samuel Blackburn, the county judge, who is in league with Hardacre and finally forces an unhappy ending on a legal technicality.

Charles G. Dawes.

That's no attempt to analyze a situation, and make it simple. It is an exact and faithful impression of our beloved Senate as it debated Reed's tax refund proposals. If the functioning senators could have been moved from their august seats down to the village opera house, no further alterations would have been needed for them to keep right on going and produce a good old rural melodrama. Hardly a senator who couldn't get himself a job as a movie tie on and this particular afternoon the galleries must have thought of rehearsal for "The Great Dictator."

If you know these senators, you'll promptly get the picture.

There was good old, capable Smoot, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, explaining why the surplus mustn't be given back, looking and talking for all the world like a Christian Endeavor superintendent during summering, an explanation of the lapse, and stuttering under Reed's liquid fire and bayonet attack—seemingly because he is a poor hand at debate, to get all tangled up in his own barbed wire. Smoot's oratorical gestures are almost as unconvincing as William G. McAdoo's, thought though he knows what he is talking about whether he appears to or not.

Lenroot, the hard-headed lame duck from Wisconsin, took over the burden of the heavy villain's part—Smoot not making a really good villain. He was superb in his efforts to discredit Strongbone Reed, although he could not match the Missouri man's rapturous bursts of wit and sarcastic bites. Of course, Lenroot is playing numerous heavy parts for the administration in these perilous days, the theory being that he is working for promotion into Grand Opera as an ambassador or something.

Cartor Glass, the peppery little rooster from Virginia, furnished most of the comedy relief. Ever and anon he jumped for a brief moment into the fray, sinking in his spurs and then slumping back into his seat, cackling at great length over his own jokes.

He was ably assisted on the floor, though forced to do his own cackling. Various dignitaries gave impromptu quotations from Mrs. Malaprop, perhaps through over-excitement. Senator George said such things as "clearly" and "statistically." Smoot often said "succeed" for "exceed"; everyone joined in such tongue-slips as Neely's talk about $69 where he meant $69,000,000 and so on.

Three low Dutch comedians came over from the House to help out, sitting in some of the numerous vacant seats. One gave an especially comical demonstration of how gum—or maybe it was tobacco—may be chewed with the mouth wide open, another how he inched incessantly and infectiously so that everybody asked who he was and another made so much noise in conversation that Reed had to ask him to pipe down.

Our hero, Jim Reed, dominated the situation all the way, until he was ruled out by the retum amendment to the deficiency bill on a point of order.

CITY HALL OFFICES TO BE CLOSED TOMORROW

City hall offices will be closed all day Tuesday, George Washington's birthday, a legal holiday. The water department office in the city hall will also be closed, Tuesday, according to Fred Morris, secretary.

Constantinople—Local tailors have been ordered by the police to quit making the familiar, full Turkish trousers. An order prohibiting high-pinked Turkish shoes also have been issued.

IF WASHINGTON PLAYED GOLF

Washington—(AP)—W. C. Ford, former chief of the manuscript division of the library of congress said Monday that a letter discovered in Kansas City, purporting to have been written by George Washington, had been found during Washington's lifetime with "doubtful intent."

MRS. ORMISTON

"My mission is obvious," said Mrs. Kenneth G. Ormiston when she arrived in San Francisco from Australia the other day. Here she is coming down the gangplank of her steamer, her husband figured prominently in the Albee Semple McPherson case. Mrs. Ormiston went to Los Angeles to see her lawyers.

CALL "WASHINGTON" LETTERS A FORGERY

able peace" and that he saw his duty, "that of standing up for the liberties of my country, and whatever differences and discords elements in my way I dare not shrink from it."

Other high lights in the letter, about 2,000 words long, not in script described as familiar to other facsimiles of Washington's letters, were references to failures of the Continental Congress to grant certain requests of Washington, which caused his army to suffer great inconveniences, and to his attention being called to "the discovery of a most wild and daring plot which he wrote probably 'will make a good deal of noise in the country.'"

His wife, Martha, was assured of his affection and hurt was expressed at her suspicions that he was inattentive and losing his regard for her. Fear for his wife's health led him to request that she be in no way "fed against smallpox. She was also urged to leave for Philadelphia because of fear that "that restless madman, our quarantined governor" might carry on a "predatory war in Virginia and vent his spite at my house."

LETTER IS FORGERY

Cambridge, Mass.—(AP)—W. C. Ford, former chief of the manuscript division of the library of congress said Monday that a letter discovered in Kansas City, purporting to have been written by George Washington, had been found during Washington's lifetime with "doubtful intent."

This and other spurious letters were first published in London in 1777, Mr. Ford said, and later one of them was issued in New York. Washington first saw it in February, 1778, Ford said and wrote to Richard Henry Lee "not one word of which (the letter) did I ever write."
